NOTES:

Membership classification:

1. Professional Member: Individuals who at the date of their application have attained the majority age and whose applications have been accepted provided that they have had at least two substantial years' experience of practice in PR and Communication or any other related field and/or have been engaged full time in PR and Communications and are qualified to undertake the practice of PR and Communication.
2. Student Members: Membership shall be open to individuals who have satisfied the membership committee that they intend to pursue a career in PR and Communications or are undertaking part-time or full time course in PR, journalism or related subject.
3. Associate Membership: Individuals who do not qualify as full members but are connected with PR as a profession and satisfy the Committee as to their eligibility in this respect. Associate membership does not automatically ensure the transfer to full membership of the Society unless the criteria for full membership described under (i) above applies.
4. Corporate Membership: Open to PR, Communications, Marketing and Media Agencies and all companies involved in PR, Communications, Marketing or Media-related activities as well as organizations, corporations, NGOs, and state owned enterprises with a demonstrated interest in public relations and communication and wish to support PRSM's mission.
5. Institutional Membership: Open to all universities, colleges and insitutions of higher learning offering PR, Communications, Marketing and Media related programs.
6. Honorary Fellow & Honorary member: In exceptional circumstances the membership committee shall be empowered to confer upon an individual from within or without the Society the position of honorary fellow or honorary member of the Society in recognition of outstanding services.
7. Fellow: Conferred upon as determined by the membership committee.
